Sports gambling establishment

In the United States, a sportsbook or a race and sports book (sometimes abbreviated as book) is a place where a gambler can wager on various sports competitions, including golf, football, basketball, baseball, ice hockey, soccer, horse racing, greyhound racing, boxing, and mixed martial arts. The method of betting varies with the sport and the type of game. In the US, the Professional and Amateur Sports Protection Act of 1992 allowed only Nevada, Oregon, Montana, and Delaware to legally wager on sports other than horse racing, greyhound racing, and jai alai; the law was ruled unconstitutional on May 14, 2024, freeing states to legalize sports betting at their discretion.

Winning bets are paid when the event finishes, or if not finished, when played long enough to become official; otherwise, all bets are returned. This policy can cause some confusion since there can be a difference between what the sportsbook considers official and what the sports league consider official. Customers should carefully read the sportsbook rules before placing their bets.

The betting volume at sportsbooks varies throughout the year. Bettors have more interest in certain types of sports and increase the money wagered when those sports are in season. Major sporting events that do not follow a specific schedule, like boxing, can create peaks of activity for the sportsbooks.

Nevada [ edit ]

Odds boards in a Las Vegas sportsbook

Most of the United States sportsbooks are located in Nevada. In 1949, Nevada allowed bookmakers to accept bets on horse racing and professional sports.[1] The first Nevada sportsbooks were called Turf Clubs. They were independent from the casinos and had an informal agreement with the hotels that they would stay out of the casino business as long as the hotels stayed out of the sportsbook business. The sportsbooks had to pay a 10 percent tax so they charged a high vigorish to gamblers, but they still brought enough business to make a profit. In 1974 the tax was lowered to 2 percent,[1] in 1983 to 0.25 percent, and in 1975 Frank Rosenthal, who ran the Stardust Casino, convinced legislators to allow sportsbooks in the casinos, and soon nearly all of the casinos added them. The turf clubs were no longer able to compete and eventually all closed.

Nevada casino sportsbooks generally feature betting windows, big screen televisions, interactive betting stations, odds boards (usually computerized), papers with different odds for the day, and places to sit and watch games and races.

Some casinos use third-party operators for their sportsbooks, such as Cantor Gaming, Leroy's, Lucky's, and Club Cal Neva. In 2011, British bookmaker William Hill agreed to buy the Leroy's, the Lucky's, and the Cal Neva chains, which would give it control of 115 of the state's 183 books.[2]

The Super Bowl is the most popular event for the Nevada sportsbooks. They earned R$7.2 million on the R$99 million wagered on it in 2013. Because it attracts many unsophisticated bettors, as of January 2014, the books had made money on 21 of the previous 23 Super Bowls, with an average win of R$5.5 million over the previous ten years. The most profitable Super Bowl was in 2005, when the Philadelphia Eagles covered the spread against the favored New England Patriots, earning the books R$15.4 million. The two losses were in 1995—when the San Francisco 49ers defeated the San Diego Chargers—and 2008—when the favored Patriots lost to the New York Giants, costing the books R$2.5 million.[3]

Delaware [ edit ]

In 2009, a bill passed to allow betting on almost every sport.[4] That year, the NFL, MLB, NHL, NBA, and NCAA filed a lawsuit against the state of Delaware, claiming their sports books were violating federal law.[5] The US Supreme Court ruled that the law partially violated the federal law, and Delaware was only allowed to offer parlays on NFL games.[6] Delaware's three racetrack casinos—Dover Downs, Harrington Raceway & Casino, and Delaware Park Racetrack—have sports books.[7] Each sportsbook has multiple televisions, large tote boards and stations for people to wager. During the 2011 NFL season, the three sports books generated R$4.4 million in revenue for the state.[8] On June 5, 2024, the casino sportsbooks in Delaware expanded sports betting to single-game and championship wagers on professional and college sports (excluding Delaware college teams) including football, baseball, basketball, hockey, soccer, boxing/MMA, golf, and auto racing.[9][10][11]

Novak Djokovic triunfa en Wimbledon tras operación de menisco

La posibilidad de que Novak Djokovic pudiera competir en Wimbledon probablemente parecía una idea remota para muchos hace unas semanas.

A pesar de haberse sometido a una cirugía de menisco roto hace menos de un mes, el tres veces campeón de Wimbledon Djokovic ganó su partido de primera ronda contra Vit Kopiva en sets seguidos (6-1 6-2 6-2) el martes.

El 3 de junio, Djokovic luchó por una victoria en cinco sets en la cuarta ronda de Roland Garros contra Francisco Cerundolo antes de retirarse del torneo al día siguiente debido a una rotura del menisco medial en la rodilla derecha.

El 6 de junio, Djokovic publicó en las redes sociales que "la cirugía había salido bien" y que trabajaría para regresar a la cancha "lo antes posible".

"Todo lo que pude haber hecho, lo he hecho, junto con mi equipo, en las últimas tres semanas y media, para darme una oportunidad de poder estar hoy aquí frente a ustedes", dijo Djokovic en su entrevista posterior al partido.

"Creo que si fuera por cualquier otro torneo, probablemente no correría el riesgo, no apresuraría las cosas tanto. Solo amo Wimbledon, amo volver aquí".

No hubo señales del injury que afectara a Djokovic el martes, ya que dominó a Kopiva desde el primer punto, solo cediendo cinco juegos y finalizando el partido en menos de dos horas en la cancha.

"No sabía cómo iban a desarrollarse las cosas en la cancha", agregó Djokovic. "En las sesiones de entrenamiento son bastante diferentes que los partidos oficiales. Estoy extremadamente feliz con la forma en que me sentí hoy, con la forma en que jugué".

Djokovic busca su 25º título de Grand Slam en individuales, el más entre hombres y mujeres en tenis. Tiene siete títulos de Wimbledon, uno menos que Roger Federer para el más entre los hombres - Martina Navratilova ganó el evento nueve veces.

Djokovic perdió en la final el año pasado ante Carlos Alcaraz en un épico de cinco sets.

Después de Wimbledon, Djokovic perseguirá uno de los logros que le han eludido: una medalla de oro olímpica.

El tres veces campeón de 37 años representará a Serbia en los próximos Juegos Olímpicos de París, anunció el Comité Olímpico de Serbia el 18 de junio. Su mejor resultado olímpico es el bronce que ganó en 2008.

"Ser parte de los Juegos Olímpicos, representar a tu país, es un gran privilegio y un honor", dijo Djokovic, quien llevó la bandera serbia en la ceremonia de apertura de Londres 2012, a la ITF en mayo. "[Es muy especial] ser parte del evento deportivo más antiguo de la historia del deporte.

"Por supuesto, ganar una medalla de oro o ganar cualquier medalla para mi país es un gran deseo y prioridad. Es uno de los mayores objetivos y metas para [esta] temporada, no hay secretos al respecto", agregó Djokovic.
