ory viruses circulate, SARS-CoV-2, the coronavirus that causes COVID-19, has continued to mutate & spread across the globe. The World Health Organization (WHO) has declared COVID-19 a global health emergency. The disease is highly contagious and can spread from person to person, from animals to humans, and through the air. Symptoms range from mild to severe, and can include fever, cough, and difficulty breathing. In some cases, it can lead to pneumonia, acute respiratory distress syndrome (ARDS), and even death. The disease is currently spreading rapidly, and it is important to take steps to prevent its spread. This includes wearing a mask, avoiding large gatherings, and practicing good hygiene. The World Health Organization is working to coordinate a global response to the disease, and is providing guidance on how to prevent and treat it. The disease is a new and potentially serious illness, and it is important to stay up to date on the latest information.
