Dan Hurley rechaza oferta de los Lakers y seguirá en la Universidad de Connecticut

El entrenador de baloncesto masculino de la Universidad de Connecticut, Dan Hurley, permanecerá en la escuela después de considerar una oferta de los Lakers de Los Ángeles para el mismo puesto, según informó ESPN el lunes.

Los Lakers ofrecieron a Hurley, entrenador del campeón reinante de la NCAA, un contrato de 6 años y 70 millones de dólares para llenar la vacante de entrenador del equipo, según ESPN.

Hasta el momento, ni la UConn ni los Lakers han respondido a la solicitud de comentarios.

Se informa que Hurley eligió quedarse en la UConn para tener la oportunidad de buscar un tercer campeonato de la NCAA consecutivo y convertirse en el primer programa masculino en lograrlo desde que UCLA ganó su séptimo título consecutivo en 1973.

En seis temporadas en la escuela, Hurley llevó a la UConn a dos títulos de la NCAA consecutivos y tiene un récord de 141-58.

Antes de unirse a la UConn, Hurley entrenó en el Wagner College en Staten Island, Nueva York, y la Universidad de Rhode Island. Hurley nunca ha entrenado en la NBA.

La semana pasada, ESPN y The Athletic informaron que los Lakers se estaban preparando para ofrecer un contrato lucrativo y a largo plazo para llenar la vacante de entrenador. Un portavoz de la UConn dijo que Hurley no tenía comentarios al respecto.

Esta es una historia en desarrollo y será actualizada.
