Tennis Odds Explained

One of the great things about betting on tennis is just how many options there are. However, for some people this can at first be slightly overwhelming. Luckily, it is actually very straightforward and if you spend just a few minutes familiarising yourself with the different betting markets, you will immediately start to benefit from the many different opportunities that present themselves.

Tennis Markets

It doesn't matter what tennis tournament or match you are betting on, from the biggest such as Wimbledon to a small local event, the betting options are nearly always the same. Broadly speaking, the markets are split into two categories, Game Odds and Outrights. If you are interested in betting on the tournament as a whole, then head to the Outright section. There you can place bets on global events within a tournament, such as who the overall winner is going to be.

However, most of the interesting markets are found under Game Odds. This is where you can bet on individual matches within a tournament. The markets start very simple, you can just bet on the Winner Full Time, which is exactly what it sounds like. However, there are many more markets available and they offer far more interesting possibilities. The markets are actually divided into three sections, Match, Set and Match Specials. In addition to Winner Full Time, the match category offers bets such as Set Betting (Correct Score), which is a bet on how many sets each player will win, Games and Sets Handicap betting, which is on the players to win a certain numbers of games/sets with a betting handicap, Over/Under Games, which is a bet on how many games there will be in the match, and so on.

Sky Brown, a medalist from Team GB, could still compete in the Paris Games despite training injury

Sky Brown, a 16-year-old British Olympic medallist, may still participate in the Paris Games despite dislocating her shoulder during training on Sunday, according to reports.

The incident occurred the day before she traveled to Paris, leaving her with a full dislocation, as reported by the .

The British Olympic Association has not yet commented on the situation, but Brown shared a link to the report on her Instagram stories and has been seen preparing for the competition.

Concorrência de parque começa na terça-feira de manhã

A competição de parque começa na terça-feira de manhã com a rodada preliminar, seguida pela final na tarde.

Aos 13 dias e 28 dias, Brown conquistou a medalha de bronze na final do skate feminino de parque nos Jogos Olímpicos de Tóquio há três anos, tornando-a a medalhista de verão mais jovem do Reino Unido, substituindo Sarah Hardcastle.

Brown é parte de uma equipe britânica de três pessoas que também inclui as adolescentes Lola Tambling e o veterano de 50 anos Andy Macdonald.

Brown teve alguns meses difíceis recentemente com lesões, após sofrer uma lesão no LCA no joelho e quase não conseguiu se qualificar para surfe na competição atual.
